CMT MEDICAL TECHNOLOGIES LTD. COMPLETES MERGER TRANSACTION

Yoqneam (Israel), August 9, 2010 - CMT Medical Technologies Ltd. ("CMT") (ENXTPA: CMD) announced today that it has completed its merger transaction with CTH Acquisition Company Ltd. ("CTH"), an Israeli company wholly-owned by Thales, a société anonyme organized and existing under the laws of France ("Thales"), pursuant to which CTH merged with and into CMT. CMT remained the surviving company in the merger and became a wholly-owned subsidiary of Thales. On August 8, 2010, the Israeli Companies Registrar issued a merger certificate evidencing the merger.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, each of the CMT shares outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the merger (other than shares already held by Thales or CMT or any other wholly-owned subsidiary of Thales or CMT) was automatically converted into, and represent solely, the right to receive from Thales an amount of € 7.10 per share in cash.

As a result of the effective consummation of the merger, Nyse Euronext Paris announced that the CMT shares would be delisted from Euronext Paris before the opening of the trading session today.

Euroclear France will consequently close the code ISIN IL0010832298 for the CMT shares in addition to members' accounts after the closing of the trading session on August 12, 2010. Euroclear France will send balance certifications ("attestations de solde") to intermediaries on August 13, 2010.

By August 31, 2010, at the latest, intermediaries will need to request from Oddo Corporate Finance, Middle Office - Sébastien COURAT, 12 boulevard de la Madeleine, 75009 Paris (Fax: + 33 1 44 51 86 50 - scourat@oddo.fr) the amount of the merger consideration on the basis of the balance certifications, and will then credit the accounts of CMT shareholders with the amount of the merger consideration to which they are entitled to.

Oddo & Cie will proceed with the payment to intermediaries on the basis of balance certifications within 3 trading days of August 31, 2010. Unclaimed amounts will be kept for the benefit of CMT shareholders as may be required by applicable laws.
